

Many marine animals are suffering or dying because of pollution and other harmful activities in the ocean.